The EAGLE

A PICTORIAL AND WRITTEN REVIEW OF THE 1949-50 SCHOOL YEAR . . .

★

CARVER HIGH SCHOOL * salem, virginia

Foreword

BECAUSE THE EMBLEM of our basketball teams is the Eagle, we, the Staff, have chosen as the name of this edition of the Carver Yearbook, "The Eagle." This volume represents our diligent effort to record in pictorial form the well-loved faces and scenes along with sketches of activities, all of which have contributed to make our school days happy.

We are sincere in our wish that this annual will bring you pleasure as you turn the pages which portray the 1949-1950 school year at Carver School.

Mrs. Daisy J. Armstrong

Dedication

WE, THE ANNUAL STAFF AND THE CLASS OF 1950, take considerable pride in dedicating this edition of THE EAGLE to our supervisor, Mrs. Daisy J. Armstrong. We take this means of extending to her our sincere appreciation for her enthusiastic endeavors and accomplishments during the years we have known her; and we congratulate her as she completes her twenty-fifth year in Roanoke County. She has been a guiding influence in our school life and we will ever remember the words of advice which she so often has said throughout the years, "Anything worth doing is worth doing well."

MR. R. RUSH ANDERSON

Our Principal ☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Seniors:

Time has moved around the clock of life and has brought you to this eventful year—a year when aspirations and dreams of a new day have come true. May this new day be bedecked with a growing love for greater service to all mankind and this world a better world because you helped to make it so. Through the years I shall always remember you and hope for you the best of life's treasures.

Seniors, we have come to the parting of the ways, and I would not deny you the opportunity of hoisting your sails to the stronger winds of a greater sea. For how could you test your skills and demonstrate the lessons taught here at Carver, if life's waves were always smooth? However, as you sail on life's sea, seek to measure the height and depth of all mankind on the scales of unbiased and unemotional opinions. Drink deeply from the cups of knowledge. Remember, Seniors, understanding is a blessing of education.

Therefore, when you reach the harbor of success, I bid you go forth and remember, "Success is found in the soul of you and not in the realm of luck; the world will furnish the work to do, but you must provide the pluck."

Members of the Class of 1950, I congratulate you today because yours is the opportunity to go forth and use the talents God has given you.

I still shall knock upon life's door
And pound its heavy bolts and bars
Although my flesh be weak and sore
And face a mess of ugly scars;
I will not falter, nor give up
I'll climb a Calvary with a Cross,
Endure the thorns, and drink the cup
But never count my purpose lost.

Sincerely,

R. RUSH ANDERSON

MRS. MARTHA SUE COOKE

MR. JAMES W. PRICE

MRS. MARTHA SUE COOKE began teaching at Carver upon graduation from Virginia State College in 1944. MR. JAMES PRICE, who returned to Bluefield State College after three years in the Army, graduated in 1948 and obtained a teaching position at Carver that September. These two persons became co-sponsors of the Junior Class in 1948 and continued to sponsor the class during the 1949-50 school year.

My fondest hope for each of you is that you will succeed in your every endeavor. I can truthfully say that parting is sweet sorrow, for although I will miss you, I am confident that you will make me proud to say that I have been associated with you. I wish you Bon Voyage and leave you with these few words of good advice:

"Take time to work—it is the price of success.
Take time to think—it is the fountain of wisdom.
Take time to play—it is the secret of perennial youth.
Take time to read—it is the fountain of wisdom.
Take time to worship—it is the highway to reverence.
Take time to be happy—it is the road to happiness.
Take time to dream—it is hitching your wagon to a star."

MARTHA SUE COOKE

All good things must come to an end. So ends a beautiful association here at Carver School. If I had a final message to give you it would be this: Whatever you do, do it well. Many obstacles will confront you. Simply keep struggling and success will be yours. Good luck and shoot for the stars even if you do fall in the clouds, for, as Robert Browning so truthfully said:

"Man's reach should exceed his grasp—or what's a heaven for!"

JAMES W. PRICE

Class History ☆ ☆ ☆

On September 7, 1945, eighty-one eighth graders crowded in Room 203 in order to be divided into two sections. Mrs. F. Prunty and Mrs. Williams were our homeroom teachers—Mrs. Prunty keeping forty-two of us and Mrs. Williams thirty-nine.

Of our number at this time, twenty-three were from the Newtown-Pinkard Court-Starkey section; twenty from Salem; ten from Vinton; six from Ballyhack; six from Goodview; four from Hollins; three from Brackettown; four from Kingstown; two from Big Hill; two from Catawba; one from Bent Mt.; and one from Franklin County.

We were a rip-snorting eighth grade—typical of the group which is classified neither as elementary nor as high school students. Generally, we were not too much interested in school work; rather, we wished to "belong" and expressed this desire by being holy terrors in every sense of the word.

However, some of us spent the time profitably, for during that year several of us made the honor roll and most of us passed to the ninth grade.

When we returned to school in 1946 our former teachers greeted us with hopes that we were going to be quieter, more studious boys and girls. Our homeroom teachers were Mrs. Frances Harrison and Mrs. Williams. As we formed our cliques, our discovery that many members of our ranks had not returned to school dampened our spirits somewhat—for we had been so proud of being the largest class in the school!

This year we became basketball conscious. Most of us were overshadowed by the older members of the teams, but those of us who made the squads tried hard to be outstanding whenever we were given a chance. In addition to our being full-fledged members of the school squads, we were thrilled when both our boys' and girls' teams won the intramural championship that year. Now class pride began to exhibit itself; we became aware of the necessity to stick together, work hard, and prepare for our junior and senior years.

During the school year, 1947-48, our homeroom teachers were Mrs. Flossie West and Mrs. Gladys Saunders. By this time our membership had dwindled, but we were still the largest class in the school. We worked hard and played hard this year. Our basketball players were recognized as good players, we participated in every activity of the school, and in general we had grown up a bit.

When we returned to school in September 1948, we met in Room 205 where our Co-sponsors, Mrs. Cooke and Mr. Price, divided us into two sections. However, no longer were we to have separate homeroom periods and class business was to be handled by one set of officers. This was our busiest year. We were conscious of being responsible for the prom and of the need for funds for our senior year. We were important members of the teams now and Reba Terry was elected captain of the girls' squad. We sponsored projects—the Christmas Tree; the "Mr. Carver-Miss Addison" Wedding (a project sponsored jointly with Addison High). In May we sponsored the prom for the seniors, sparing no trouble and expense to make it one of the best in the history of the school.

Our Senior year has been one of much activity. We have directed most of our talents and funds towards preparation of the 1950 Annual. We have been active in athletics and have been members of several organizations, in many instances holding offices.

POEM

By MAGGIE B. SMITH

Out of Carver in nineteen fifty
We, a class bright and thrifty,
Will do our best to make a name
And write our story on the scroll.

Trouble has never worried us
As we traveled through life's dust,
By a road that leads us ever on
To the highest places man has trod.

While at study with no teacher near,
Our lessons we mastered with conscience clear;
We never fretted, pouted or frowned
But got our lessons as by duty bound.

Through old Carver we onward passed,
Shunning neither books nor daily class;
But met them all without a dread
And each day found us forging ahead.

The rules of the school have we ever kept,
As we've climbed upward step by step;
The word "can't" we put away
And left for others to say.

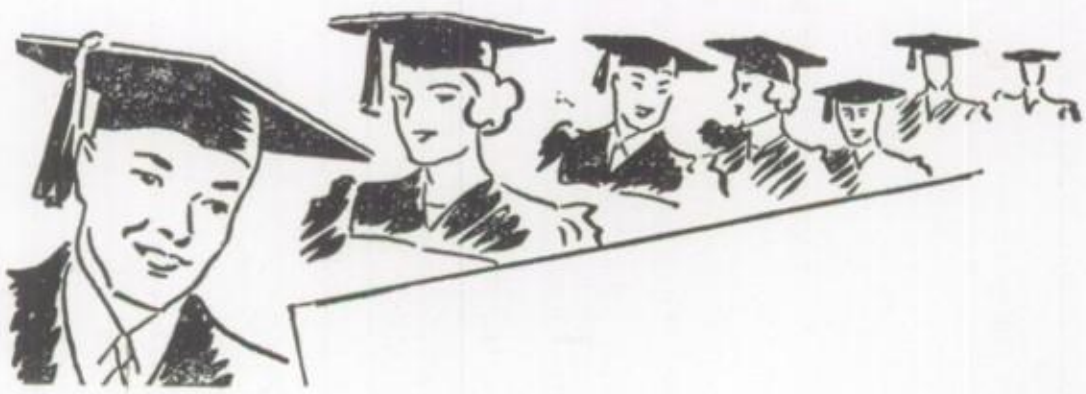
We've laid aside "can't" and picked up "must."
And put much emphasis on it, I trust;
That is the reason why we are here
Crowned with success with hearts full of cheer.

March on, old Carver, grand and tall,
March on, old school mates, one and all;
To our dear teachers we say, "March on!
To your success when we are gone."

Now the time has come to say farewell;
How our courage fails us you cannot tell,
For our pleasant memories we have a sigh,
And say to dear old Carver, "Goodbye."

And now that the final word is spoken
Let us keep our ranks unbroken;
With Carver as our beacon light,
Let us march onward to the height.

With reluctance we leave old C. H. S.
Where we've tried to do our very best;
We shall strive to reach the highest goal,
And meet life's duties with courage bold.



CLASS SONG

When we speak the sad word farewell
How oft our eyes are bathed with tears:
But "Hope" whispers to each saddened heart
Friendships' golden links will hold through passing years.

Farewell, class mates, farewell, dear school,
Our hearts will often hear the soft refrain
Farewell, farewell, farewell, farewell until we meet again.

Though our paths may lead us far apart
But old Carver High will ever bide
We will breathe a prayer to meet again
And our Alma Mater's link will stem each tide.

Tune—ALOHA OE

Activities ☆ ☆ ☆

All Work and no Play Makes Jack a Dull Boy

FOR MANY YEARS the work of school committees and clubs, teams, bands, and other organizations were regarded as something outside the school program—as "extracurricular." Even now, frequently secondary schools regard such activities as addenda to the main business of education, which, they say, is the mastery of the academic subjects of study.

We, at Carver, are proud to regard these activities as the very life of the school itself. We maintain that instead of being "extra" to the curriculum these activities are the core—the most realistic part of it. Our activities are based upon our expressed interests. Our organizations are live, dynamic groups of young people and older people working together. Here, among other things, we learn to cooperate by cooperating and learn social control by practicing social control. In our activities all the students and advisers join together in the processes of education...

THE PURPOSE OF THE VARSITY "C" CLUB is to encourage interest in athletics, improve school spirit, and act as host to visiting teams. The group was organized during the 1949-50 school year and it is hoped that the organization will grow and become one of the most prominent school groups.

Athletic History

ATHLETICS play a large part in the life of Carver School. We believe that participation is not only healthful and invigorating but also develops cooperation and a sense of fair play. True sportsmanship—a combination of fair play and courtesy—is stressed in all activities at Carver. The Senior Class of 1950 hopes that the same skill and sportsmanship that have been characteristic of our teams in the past will be carried on by our teams of tomorrow.

The Senior Class is proud that the basketball teams of 1949-50 included a number of seniors. Seniors on the girls' team are Reba Terry, Martha Vineyard, Bettie Anderson, Elsie Terry, Evelyn Simmons, Mattie Wiley and Clara Anderson. Senior boys are Joseph Curtis, Russell Smith, Lewey Hale, Homza Hale, Francis Banks and William Gravely. In addition, the captain of the girls' team, Reba Terry, is a senior and both captains of the boys' team are seniors. The Senior Class feels that this is an excellent record.

Memories That Bless And Burn! ☆ ☆ ☆

The Heart Of Carver ☆ ☆ ☆

WE ARE PRONE to take for granted Mr. Lee, Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Anderson, but, if we stop to think for a second this would no longer be true.

Of what importance is the quiet gentleman whom we frequently see during the day and who is always present at night affairs? What would happen if he should decide to take a day or two off without warning? Mr. Lee is never too busy to attend to our wants—it is he who sees that we have a warm building, who will open doors when keys are lost, who will furnish supplies when we wish to clean up. Take a look at the building at 3:30 p.m. when we leave school; then note the difference at 9 the next morning. It is Mr. Lee who checks the temperature of the gym during games and attempts to regulate the heat for the best interests of the players. He is the one who checks the lights and sees that the building is securely locked. To Mr. Wallace Lee we wish to express our appreciation for his services and we hope that next year his work will somehow be made less burdensome.

And what bell do we listen for more anxiously than that which signals "Lunchtime"? How would we feel if, upon dashing to the cafeteria, we were informed that Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Anderson had not prepared lunch? How could we face the afternoon classes without lunch? It's a horrible thought! We haven't been thoughtful enough to thank these ladies for their services before now, but we wish to say to them that they, along with Mr. Lee, are really "The Heart of Carver" and we are glad that we have been associated with them.

To these three persons the Seniors say "So long" and "Thanks for everything!"

Introduction to

Our Advertisers . . .

In a quest for ads
These shoes were worn
And as Salem, Roanoke, and Vinton street pads
They may be known.

'Twas the same story everywhere,
"No money, business poor."
Each time the same—no variation there
As stealthily we slid out the door.

So once more our weary feet
The pavement would trace,
A few ads to seek
That success we might face.

The fight was hard, the marches dreary,
Downcast and sad were we.
And o'er the task we grew weary
But Victory was ours to see.

And now that the battle is o'er,
As over these pages you look,
Do you think it's anything small
To wear out shoes for a yearbook?

The Seniors' Farewell ☆ ☆ ☆

As slow our ship her foamy track
  Against the wind was cleaving,
Her trembling pennant still look'd back
  To that dear isle 'twas leaving.
So loath we part from all we love
  From all the links that bind us;
So turn our hearts, as on we rove,
  To those we've left behind us.

When round the bowl of vanish'd years
  We talk with joyous seeming—
With smiles that might as well be tears,
  So faint, so sad their beaming;
While memory brings us back again
  Each early tie that twined us,
Oh, sweet's the cup that circles then
  To those we've left behind us.

As travellers oft look back at eve
  When eastward darkly going,
To gaze upon that light they leave
  Still faint behind them glowing—
So, when the close of pleasure's day
  To gloom hath near consign'd us,
We'll turn to catch one fading ray
  Of joy that's left behind us.
